Important information

Personal data shared with or held by third parties* to which you may be referred

Where your personal data is held by any third-party provider of services to you, the Data Controller is the provider of the service and their privacy notices with further details about your rights to your data can be found on their website. You will be provided with the relevant information if a referral is made.

* This might include Christians Against Poverty, StepChange, your local church or any local provider of services to which you may be referred by SCPA, as agreed on the previous page.

Right to withdraw consent to hold your data

You have a right to withdraw your consent for SCPA to hold your data at any time. However your consent continues until you withdraw it. If you no longer wish SCPA to use your personal data in the ways you have consented to above, please contact your SCPA representative in the first instance. You may need to contact third party organisations to withdraw your consent from any of them whom you no longer wish to hold your data.

I have read and agree to the above:
